Happiness Attainable by Att. Valter, my boy, the old chap who made adages said, that a contented mind was a continual feast. He was a very good adage maker, my boy, but his style was much as would be that of a man who might give you a safe full of money and not tell how to unlock it, or as old Peddlertrap said when his wife ran away -"good as far as she goes." The chief end of man in one sense is the head-in the other happiness. But very few men are happy, my boy. That is, they are not happy to-day, but DAVIS & CO., Union Foundry, Delaware street, op- expect the full measure of bliss to-morrow. To-morrow is a great day, Valter. One tomorrow has more of fear, or more of happiness than all the to-days ever almanac'd. We all look for happiness-not in the present but in the future-and, my boy, we are all wrong. TARANCIS SMITH, formerly Delzell & Smith, Real Happiness makes us enjoy life. We can all be happy if we will. Care is the huge grindstone which wears us away. Now is the time to be happy. What is the use of waiting till another day has broke?

"How can we help waiting?" Easy enough, my boy. Keep the heart right. That is the first point. If you see a man in trouble help him out if you can. If not, don't get him in deeper. If you are tempted to do a mean act, stop and think how it will belittle you. If you see trouble, alleviate it. If you see a man in danger, tell him of it. Think how much better off than you might be, and Valter, my boy, we cannot see how you can help being happy. Don't let trifles worry you. Keep a stiff upper lip, and a close lower one. The lower lip is the one you should guard-it does the talking.

Public Morals at Washington. The Washington correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, one of the leading abolition papers of the Northwest, has recently given an account of the state of morals in and around the National Capital. The contrast which he represents is not very flettering to the Republican Administration. We republish the following paragraph from his letter:

"The tone of morality here is considerably lower than it ever has been before. This is admitted on all hands, and can be proved, or rather needs no proof, for the air is heavy with public and private guilt. A few years ago, a high Austrian official, whose peculations were discovered, applied the lancet to his own veins, and another 'similarly situated hanged himself. There is no such sense of shame here. Any coroner's jury in Washington would find a verdict of insanity for such conduct, and the verdict would be accepted in good faith. The Southerners, as a class, had a very nice sense of honor so far as the public treasury was concerned. Floyd was an exception—almost a solitary exception—to "Rot dangerous to the premises." the rule. When they held the power here, "They come out of their holes to die." there was comparatively little thieving, and "They come out of the little thieving, and "They are the only infallible remedies known." when any was discovered, it was properly exposed and denounced. There has been a change—a dreadful change for the worse. Used by—the City Post Office. The frauds and attempted frauds on the treasury, in one channel and another, come so fast, and from such unexpected quarters, that one is bewildered in contemplating them. Yet nobody has been brought to justice, and nobody seems to think it possible that anybody should be brought to justice. 'Oh, those rascally contractors!' says some honest man in the rural districts. For every dollar wrongfully taken by a contractor, five have been taken by public servants." This certainly is alarming. Why is it tolerated by an Administration which came into power professing honesty, and promising retrenchment and reform? Will honest men stop and investigate?—Statesman.
